The rifles are to be used by the boys this evening in their drill at a hall near Christ Church parish house, and they will continue in ossession of them until the court decides as to their lawful ownership. Frederick M. Kerby, major of the Boys' Brigade, today expressed a willingness to do all he can in an effort to conciliate the differences of the two

John Lane Johns, son of Rev. Arthur Johns, rector of Christ Church, also was in a concillatory mood, and asserted it is his belief the contending parties should be able to agree on some program to eliminate the affairs of the parish from the public gaze. As the rector is now at a sanitarium at Rockville, Md., ill of nervousness, the attitude of his son who represents him tude of his son, who represents him, was received with interest by those in charge of the brigade work. Maj. Kerby suggested that the com-pany be allowed to continue its work in Christ Church parish, and that a committee of three or five members of the vestry having the interest of the work at heart be selected to supervise the work of the company.

It is considered likely the suit in the Municipal Court which the brigade leaders have brought to obtain possession of the rifles may be dismissed if this course is followed, and all matters in relation to the controversy settled
